Seminari: History, heritage and memory in China’s social transformation since 1949.

1. Conflicts in time and space: periodising the history of the People’s Republic of China

Duara, Prasenjit, Rescuing the Nation from History: Questioning the Narratives of Modern China Chicago: Chicago University Press, 1995

Wang, Mingming, ‘To learn from the ancestors or to borrow from the foreigners: China’s self-identity as a modern civilisation’, in Critique of Anthropology, 2014 Vol. 34 (4): 397-409

2. Ownership of the past: oral narratives, the archival record and official historiography

Dirlik, Arif, ‘‘Zhongguohua: Worlding China’ in Arif Dirlik, Guannan Li and

3. History through a gendered lens and the question of Chinese feminism since 1949

_________________,’The impossibility of gender in narratives of China’s modernity’, Radical Philosophy 146 (November/December 2007): 27-38

4. Locality, cultural transmission and heritage discourse

